Presenter:

There is a new princess in the British Royal Family. Princess Charlotte was born on May 2nd.

She will live in a place called Norfolk and children who live there are excited about it. Listen to what these kids in Norfolk told the BBC about what it's like to live close to the royal family and what they think about the name Charlotte for a princess.

Interviews:

I'm really excited because if I saw them I think I'd be, like, really happy.

I'm really excited about the Royal Family coming to live so close to me.

The new baby's name is really cool because my name is Charlotte as well.

Charlotte is quite a good name because there aren't many other princesses that have been called that.

Princess Charlotte is the daughter of the Duke and Duchess of Cambridge and she has an older brother called Prince George.

• Sounds like Swedish House Mafia

Presenter:

And talking about royal families, King Carl Gustaf's 70th birthday was in the news all over the world.

That's because of a song by the Swedish House Mafia. To celebrate the king's birthday, the Royal Swedish Army band played the song Don't You Worry Child. Listen to how it sounded.

We don't know whether the king is a big fan of Swedish House Mafia or not but the video of the band playing has been seen by lots of people on YouTube.
