

PROGRAMMANUS

PRODUCENT: CHRISTINE DEMSTEADER
PROJEKTLEDARE: ANNA ODENHALL
BESTÄLLNINGNUMMER: 68510462606

NEWSREEL EASY 6/2016

Script and Word list

Presenter:

This is Newsreel Easy. I'm Christine Demstader. In today's programme

- Women's soccer players in the US complain because they earn less than men
- An Australian teenager is going to the North Pole
- And International Pillow Fight day takes place in more than 50 cities

to complain

att klaga

to earn

att tjäna

pillow fight

kuddkrig

- Soccer stars talk money

Presenter:

Women's soccer players in the US say they should be paid the same money as men.

be paid

få betalt

They have complained and now want to earn the same.

The US women's team won the World Cup in 2015. They have won more competitions but are paid four times less than men.

World Cup

VM i fotboll

competitions

tävlingar

four times less

fyra gånger mindre

goalkeeper

målvakt

grateful

tacksam

opportunity

möjlighet

equal rights

lika rättigheter

equal pay

lika lön

successful

framgångsrik

not fair

inte rättvist

youngest

ungst

Hope Solo:

We continue to be told we should be grateful just to have the opportunity to play professional soccer and to get paid for doing it – and it's about equality; it's about equal rights, it's about equal pay.

Presenter

Hope Solo says women's football is more successful and popular than men's football in the US. That's why it is not fair they get paid less money.

- Arctic adventures

Presenter:

A 14-year-old from Australia wants to be the youngest person to go to the North Pole, the South Pole and ski across Greenland.

Jade Hameister is going to the North Pole first. She will ski 225 kilometres and it will take 21 days.

She wants to inspire other girls to believe in themselves. Listen to what to believe in themselves

att tro på sig själva

Jade said to the Herald Sun – a newspaper in Australia.

Jade:

It's going to be really hard but it will be a great adventure. It wouldn't be amazing if it was easy.

Presenter:

Jade's dad will be skiing with her and she is putting photos of her adventure on Instagram.

• JK Rowling letters

Presenter:

JK Rowling – the author of the Harry Potter books – hasn't always been so successful.

After Harry Potter, she wrote another book but didn't use her real name.

She got two letters back from publishers who didn't think the book would be a success. In one letter she was even told to take a writing course.

JK Rowling put photos of the letters on Twitter. She wanted to show people who want to be writers that they need to keep trying.

Over 400 million Harry Potter books have been sold around the world.

• Friendly pillow fights

Presenter:

Over 50 cities took part in International Pillow Fight Day on the first Saturday in April.

Listen to these people who took part in America.

Pillow fighters:

Pillow fights are something that we all grew up with and we all remember jumping on the bed and, you know, whacking each other really hard.

Hit hard and hit fast.

The great thing is after you have used all that energy you can actually just take your pillow and go to sleep.

Presenter:

The idea is to just have fun. The rules are easy - you are only allowed to hit people who also have a pillow with them.

That's all from Newsreel Easy for now. Have a look at our quiz and questions. Find them on the Newsreel pages of the website – ur.se – or go to our Facebook page – it's UR Engelska. Until next time, I'm Christine Demstader, thanks for listening.

author
författare

letters
brev
publishers
bokförlag
writing course
skrivkurs

writer
författare
to keep trying
att fortsätta att försöka

grew up with växte upp med
to jump on the bed
att hoppa i sängen
to whack/hit
att slå

rules
regler
allowed
tillåten