KATE: Hi, I'm Kate Holland welcome to Newsreel Easy.

Coming up:

- How did you find learning online?

LUKE: With drama it's a lot harder. Same with music because you don't have all the instruments.

- And the young singer who's now a star... on Fifa22.

But first:

Mental Health Issues

A new report shows that there's been a big rise in the numbers of children seeking help for their mental health in the UK.

The report reveals that the number of young people reporting mental health problems has doubled since the pandemic.

And children are also having to wait much longer before getting any treatment. Sue Peacock told the BBC that her teenage daughter has been waiting for two and a half years.

SUE PEACOCK: That feeling of helplessness, you're waiting for a service that you know could help your child.

Pros and Cons of Online Learning

Children across the UK are now back at school – after months of having to learn online.

TEJAL PILLAI: It was just hard not to be with all your friends and like online interactions were just much harder in general anyway. So yeah – I'm happy to be back.

KATE: That was Tejal Pillai, a pupil at the City of London Girls school, talking to BBC News.

I've been finding out how young people felt about being away from school and spending so much time at home.

And how they're feeling now they're back in the classroom.
13-year-old, Luke, told me about his experiences.

LUKE: I got a hamster before lockdown. I got to like spend a lot of time with my hamster and my dog.

KATE: So for Luke, being able to spend time with his pets was a good part of lockdown. But were there any downsides?

LUKE: Although you get to spend lots of time with your close family, you don't get to spend as much time with your far away family, like your grandparents.

KATE: And what about the learning at home – how did you find that?

LUKE: With the online learning it's a lot easier to concentrate. You also get to sleep in longer which is good.

KATE: Was there anything you didn't like about it?

LUKE: You can't do interactive lessons. With drama it's a lot harder; same with music because you don't have all the instruments.

It's just like little things as well – the fact you can't just high-five your friend or something.

KATE: And finally, is there anything from online learning that schools could bring into everyday school experience?

LUKE: Well, if you make a mistake, or if you forget something, there's a bit more slack. So if you're nervous about getting a detention or not being late for a lesson, it's not as strict. So maybe that would work?

Willow Kane

Willow Kane: I worked in the building with attitude I'm the leader...

KATE: That's young artist, Willow Kane, whose track, 'Two Seater' has been chosen to feature in the latest edition of the football video game Fifa.

*Willow Kane: The world, it chose you. Live how you wanna.
Just do your own thing.
Man, we're alive...*

KATE: That's all for today. I'll be back soon. Goodbye!
