2022-12-10

Programmanus

av Kate Holland

I'm Kate Holland, and this is Newsreel Easy.

Today it's our end of year review.

We're going to be looking back at some of our biggest stories of 2022.

- Coming up:

Annabelle: I don't like fast fashion. I think it's bad for the environment. I think it's exploitative to its workers.

But first...

How people in the UK reacted to the war in Ukraine

Many people have been affected by the war in Ukraine this year. In just the first week of the war, more than one million people left Ukraine.

Back in March, I spoke to 16-year-old Julia about the situation.

Julia: One of my friends is Ukrainian, and she's obviously very scared for her family. We've been talking about it and everything is so scary and it just feels like it shouldn't be happening.

As it's been almost a year since the invasion started, I headed out to speak to some people in London about it. I met Hannah who told me about her friend who's been helping people in Ukraine.

Hannah: Yeah, one of my good friends is doing so much work, like he's actually out there, doing it, which is amazing. He's trying to get generators from Europe and bringing them over. I just can't imagine what it's like without any power. It's really hard for us to just continue, isn't it? And we're just carry on with our little lives and this is happening...it's horrendous. 0094

Hannah said that it's hard to keep living like normal whilst there's a war going on.

Booking site crashes

Clip: Taylor Swift – Anti-hero

That was Taylor Swift with her song “Anti-hero”.

Back in November, we reported that US fans were having a hard time buying tickets for Taylor Swift's tour. The reason to this was that ticket booking website Ticketmaster crashed.

Now, 26 fans are suing the website. Taylor Swift has not commented on this yet, but we will have to wait and see how everything goes next year.

Long covid affecting young people

It's been three years since the covid-19 pandemic started. And it's been revealed that many people have what's known as long covid. Long covid is when it takes a very long time to recover from a covid infection. The symptoms can include things like tiredness and breathing difficulties.

Back in May, I spoke to Callum O'Dwyer, who suffers from long covid.

Callum: I was struggling to pick up plates. I was struggling to pick up water bottles, and I knew that something wasn't right.

Callum also told me he had started to feel a little bit better.

Callum: I've started to adapt to my disability and life has gotten a bit better, so my quality of life has improved.

I hope Callum's is doing better now!

Rise in teenagers selling and buying second hand clothes online

In 2022 there's been a big rise in people interested in second hand clothes. Apps that allow you to sell and buy clothes have become popular amongst young people.

In the UK, more and more young people have stopped buying clothes that are called "fast fashion". "Fast fashion" is clothing that's cheap and fast to produce and not of very high quality.

Back in September, I spoke to Nyla who, a young person from New Zealand who now lives in the UK. I asked her what she thinks about fast fashion.

Nyla: Fast fashion really encourages you to spend big, wear for a short period of time and then continuously rotate your wardrobe, which is just not a sustainable solution at all for the environment.

Nyla said fast fashion is bad because it encourages you to buy more clothes.

I also spoke to Annabelle who wears a lot of second hand clothes.

Annabelle: I started to buy second hand clothes as a way to have fun with my friends and experiment with fashion while spending less money as a student.

I guess we have to wait and see how the second hand trend evolves next year.

The rising interest for women's football

Right now, the men's FIFA world cup is taking place in Qatar. But that's not the only major football event that's been happening this year!

The England team won the UEFA Women's Euro championship this summer which led to more and more people playing and watching women's football.

In October, I went to a football game in London. At the stadium, I asked 15-year-old Amelie if she watches women's football.

Amelie: Yes, I did watch the women's Euros. I was with some friends at like a festival, and they put it on the big screen and everyone was just cheering. It was a beautiful atmosphere, just amazing.

Amelie says she watched the UEFA final at a festival, where they showed the game on a big screen so lots of people could watch.

I recently met Bob and he told me about his thoughts on England winning the UEFA Women's Euro championship this summer.

Bob: I think it made people very excited, cause England actually won something. So, yeah. I really didn't watch much of it though cause I was watching the cricket instead.

Maybe we'll do a story about cricket next year, who knows!

This year was the first time in three years that Europe's largest carnival returned!

The festival, called Notting Hill Carnival, made a comeback in August. The festival had been canceled two years in a row because of covid.

The carnival celebrates Caribbean culture in the UK and includes a parade, live music, and traditional Caribbean food.

Two million people attended the carnival and people were dancing in colorful costumes. I hope we have more fun events like this next year!

That's all from me for 2022.

Thank you for listening.
